WHITESBURG, KY., Aug. 24.—The long drawn out legal battle, a battle royal, between James H. Frazier wealthy Whitesburg merchant on one side and Robert O. Brashears an attorney on the other for rights and titles to a house and lot in Whitesburg known as the Aunt Nerva Brashears holdings and fought in the Letcher county courts and the Kentucky Court of Appeals, back and fourth, for a period of nearly twenty-five years, one of the hardest fought legal battles ever waged in Letcher county's history, came to a climax in the Letcher circuit court here Saturday afternoon when Judge James M. Beberson presiding rendered a de-M. Roberson presiding rendered a de-cision in favor of the plaintiff, giving cision in favor of the plaintiff, siving Mr. Frazier immediate possession of the property valued today at about $6000. When the proceedings were first instituted many years ago through a forfeiture or failure of the Brashears heirs the plaintiff purchased such rights and titles to the property as were held by the heirs, though but lit-ile attention was given the suit until i had drifted along for several years.
